

Support the Harry Bridges Center for Labor Studies

The Harry Bridges Center for Labor Studies supports a network of scholars in cutting-edge research, education, and outreach about work, workers, and their organizations. The Bridges Center relies on individual contributions to fulfill its mission and to expand programs. When you contribute to an endowment, that money supports the Bridges Center forever. Contributions to all endowments generate interest through investments managed by the University of Washington Foundation, which is then distributed to the Bridges Center.
